In this article we will learn the basics of the GVDialer and the top 10 features that you can avail with GVDialer that will make you really happy with it. GVDialer Introduction: GVDialer was developed by Robopatch in the late 90's. In the past GVDialer was known to be a great option to link your PCs to your cell phones. But as of today, the new versions of GVDialer is re-written in Ruby and with the latest changes it looks good and fast! GVDialer is the Google Voice extension and application for Windows (the only exception is Mac). This application allows you to connect your computer to your Google Voice account, making voice calls with your Google Voice number from GVDialer to almost every service such as Skype, GoogleTalk, AOL, Yahoo, Jabber, MSN, etc. GVDialer is a full-featured, easy-to-use and free Google Voice dialer that provides access to many features and settings. The application allows you to make outbound phone calls using a computer connected to your Google Voice account (which requires a working internet connection), receiving calls using an Android phone, as well as making calls using a computer that is not connected to your Google Voice account. GVDialer is a powerful Google Voice program and allows you to easily link Google Voice to your computer, allowing you to make and receive calls, as well as send and receive text messages from a computer. With GVDialer, you have access to all the Google Voice features, such as custom voicemail greetings, speed dialing, call forwarding, spam filtering, caller ID spoofing, and more. With a few minutes of installation, you can set up GVDialer to automatically dial Google Voice contacts, as well as easily configure GVDialer with your Google Voice account to perform all the features and functions you need. GVDialer Features: After installation, you will receive a free Google Voice Key for your account. GVDialer allows you to create custom voicemail greetings for all of your Google Voice calls. You can set a contact in GVDialer as your primary contact for Google Voice, allowing you to call them directly from GVDialer and GoogleVoice. GVDialer also supports the following features: call forwarding, spam filtering, call blocking,
